Chesme Capital Management (“Chesme,” “we,” “our” or “us”) is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission as an investment adviser under the name Chesme, LLC.

Brokerage and investment advisory services and fees differ and it is important for you to understand the differences. Free and simple tools are available to research financial professionals and firms at Investor.gov/CRS, which also provides educational material about broker-dealers, investment advisers and investing.

What investment services and advice can you provide me?

We provide investment advisory services, including financial planning and portfolio management services. Financial planning services are customizable and can include plans to reach your individual financial goals, retirement income planning or working with other licensed professionals to perform insurance, income tax, estate or other types of planning. Portfolio management services, which includes determining the allocation of asset categories within your account and determining (and monitoring) the securities to be held in your account, are provided on both a stand-alone basis and in conjunction with financial planning services.

We predominately utilize mutual funds and, to a much lesser extent, individual fixed income securities in client accounts. We have discretionary authority over your account when providing portfolio management services, which means we do not need to get your permission before buying or selling a security in your account. Our Investment Committee regularly monitors the individual securities utilized in all client accounts and your Chesme advisor monitors your account as needed, but on an annual basis at a minimum. Financial planning does not include ongoing monitoring unless you are also utilizing portfolio management services. There is no minimum account size for any advisory service, but there is a minimum portfolio management fee, as described below.

What fees will I pay?

We typically charge financial planning clients a negotiable flat fee, either quarterly or annually, based on the complexity of the services provided. Financial planning fees are solely for the preparation and reporting of the plan, not implementation of the recommendations. We charge portfolio management clients a fee at the end of each quarter based on the average daily value of the cash and investments in the account during the quarter. Small (less than $50,000) portfolio management accounts pay a flat, annual fee. A fee structure based on the size of your account creates a conflict of interest. The more assets there are in your account, the more you will pay in fees, and we therefore have an incentive to encourage you to increase the assets in your account.

You will also incur costs, in addition to the fees you pay to us, related to our advisory services. Common examples of these costs include custodial fees, fees associated with the mutual funds we recommend, transaction fees and fees paid to third parties assisting with financial planning.

You will pay fees and costs whether you make or lose money on your investments. Fees and costs will reduce any amount of money you make on your investment over time. Please make sure you understand what fees and costs you are paying.

MORE DETAILED INFORMATION ABOUT FEES AND COSTS CAN BE FOUND IN YOUR INVESTMENT MANAGEMENT AGREEMENT AND OUR FORM ADV PART 2A, ITEM 5, WHICH IS AVAILABLE AT: <https://chesme.com/>.

*Help me understand how these fees and costs might affect my investments. If I give you $10,000 to invest, how much will go to fees and costs, and how much will be invested for me? **

What are your legal obligations to me when acting as my investment adviser? How else does your firm make money and what conflicts of interest do you have?

When we act as your investment adviser, we have to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts because they can affect the investment advice we provide you. Here is an example to help you understand what this means. We receive free general research services used to manage our client accounts from broker-dealers. This creates a conflict of interest as we have incentive to select those broker-dealers when trading or recommend you maintain your assets at the broker-dealer's affiliated custodian in order to receive these free services.

MORE DETAILED INFORMATION ABOUT CONFLICTS OF INTEREST CAN BE FOUND IN OUR FORM ADV PART 2A, WHICH IS AVAILABLE AT: <https://chesme.com/>.
